

research >>

Robert A. Redden

The focus of my research is the characterization of neuroblastoma, the most common and deadly solid pediatric cancer, using the rotary microgravity bioreactor and other in vitro models, and mathematical modeling of cell aggregation, proliferation, and viability.